Chimes.

THIS WAS THE YEAR THAT WAS . . .

A chalky year of cluttered mementos
Wrapped around red and black days
Stapled together by regimentation.
But the green and gold remains
Out of the mixed memories now
Of a year that was . . .

We tried to learn the knowledge of ages in fifty-five minutes
and two cherry cokes

... a time for study

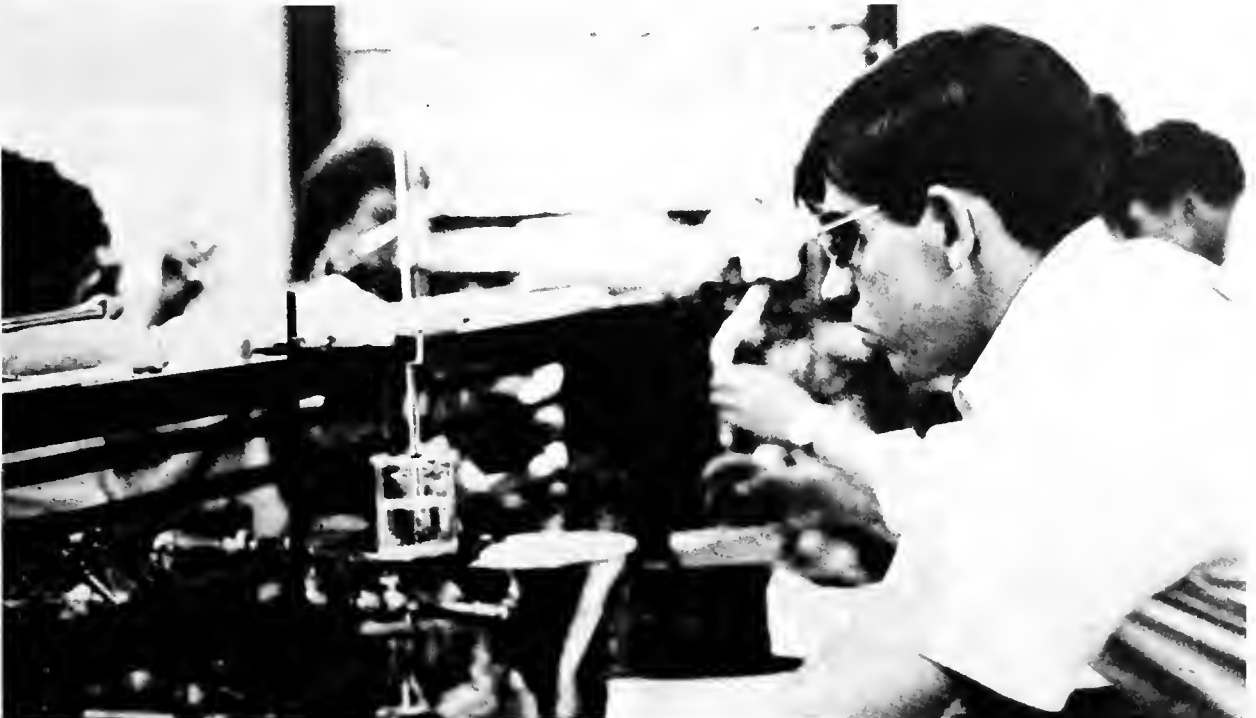

... crammed with hours of chalk,

cluttered boards and quiet creation

... in moody moments we nursed brown studies and black coffee

... and always there was the land around us

From which came we in health

to which go we in help

Hemming us in — except for sunny Sundays

... made worthwhile by the melodies of pretty women and the moments of their stormy weather

... the year of the quadrennial fury

... of Louisville crowds

Berea Assemblies

Student politics

... the year that life revolved around the snack bar

and it became the "Hutch"

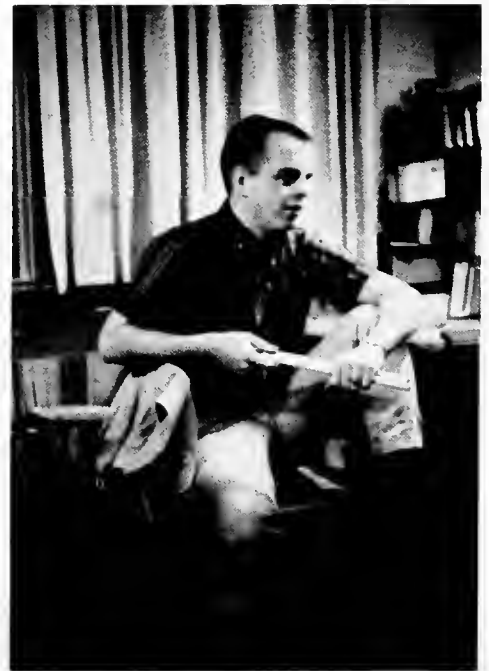

and life still revolved around it

... a year of the ridiculous, the whimsical, the strange and wonderful

... sled springs in a world white and deep

... but we had promises to keep

... of young love

and the old problem of privacy

...of the g^a oⁱ gⁿ and the s^a p^p iⁿ
nⁿ g of the Watusi

... and this was the year that it was good to rest.

FOUNDATION

Tell in song and story
Of the fine and fleeting glory
Lest we forget the glory
Of the year that was . . .

... It was a jerky year of double bubble fortunes

... hearty appetites and heady problems

... It was a year of the inevitables

... Foundation is sometimes snow fun

... A year of high jinks and hikers

... It was a year of varied carols

... the good sound of work

... the sweet sound of music

... the bittersweet melody of memory

GOD HATH MADE OF ONE BLOOD
ALL NATIONS OF MEN
BEREA COLLEGE

Death is the wet parchment of an ancient face

AND

The Wonder and gloss in a baby's eye

Sealed in an unlighted room

Of closed doors

Painted black

And screaming EXIT.

An echo lies in the whimper

Or

The word remembered by the living

And in the crackle-cry of a lonely fall leaf

Crushed underneath

The sole of a shoe

In early spring.

And infinity—

Is it sound we hear or the echo?

Is it life we live or death?

Is there no screaming EXIT?

Reality is the blackness of the ink of

Unanswered questions

And the blinding flashes of light from

The opening but never opened doors.

Man may never view the lighted from the darkened

Nor the darkened from the lighted room;

For that is the mystery of the doors that separate—

Known from unknown,

Life from death.

Now we see the EXIT only.

But what shall we see then.
